

7-seater Outlander due

HM-Mitsubishi have finally announced that the seven-seater version of the Outlander will be launched by end-2011. The addition of the third row of seats is sure to boost its appeal but it will still be hobbled by the lack of a diesel engine. An upgraded Pajero is also on the cards, following up from the all-white Pajero launched two months ago

This is what the UK market 7-seater Outlander's third row looks like