

Ambassador and Amby

Symbolism has its place in diplomacy. All the more so when celebrating festive years, a routine affair in bilateral diplomatic calendars. Germany's ambassador to India Thomas Matussek seems to have decided to celebrate the German year in India (2011-12) with a marked difference and he bought an Ambassador car, an enduring symbol of India for the envoy of a country known for its big automobile brands. The vehicle will be painted to befit the celebrations during the German festival celebrations.

