

Here's The Amberoid

The mainstay of our roads until desperate consumers abandoned it for the Maruti, is about to get a radical makeover. The all-new Ambassador is the Amberoid and it's got a souped-up engine, gull wing doors and a plush interior loaded with gizmos. More than 25,000 man-hours went into the Amberoid, but will it command the respect the Ambassador still does with an all-white paint job and just one accessory: a flashing red light?
